This request for quotation (RFQ), Purchase Order, or Purchase/Supply Agreement with Remark 218 may be funded under a U.S. Government Contract with the applicable FAR/DFARS flow down clauses as noted In GE terms and conditions of purchase (remark C64/I64).

NAICS code 336413 is the primary NAICS codes Relating to orders of other aircraft parts and auxiliary equipment. Small business is defined as <1,250 employees. Supplier confirms that its size representations, including at time of offer, are based on the applicable NAICS code.

The seller confirms that the annual representations and certifications which were previously furnished to GE, and which are incorporated herein by reference, were current, accurate, and complete as of the date of the offer. This includes small business Hubzone and service-disabled veteran certification status in the us government system(s).

Rated orders

If a Defense Priority and Allocation System (DPAS) rating appears on this order, the parts schedule report, or the Supplier Collaboration portal (SCP), the seller shall follow all the requirements of DPAS Regulation (15 cfr 700).

A person must accept or reject a rated order in writing or electronically within fifteen (15) working days after receipt of a DO rated order and within ten (10) working days after receipt of a DX rated order. If the order is rejected, the person must give reasons in writing (not electronically) for the rejection. An EDI 855 (purchase order acknowledgement) is permissible as an acceptance of a DPAS rated order.
